

Introducing Waste No More's mobile Wash Against Waste trailer!

With our mobile wash station, we make it easy for vendors to adopt a true zero waste approach.

The service is free for stallholders.

The Wash Against Waste (WAW) trailer is fully equipped with

- An industrial dishwasher
- Crockery - small and big plates, bowls, cutlery, as well as a variety of drinking cups

It is recommended that stallholders have a backup supply of compostable dinnerware to ensure that things run smoothly. This compostable ware must only be the approved brands, 'Ecoware' and 'DecentPackaging' (previously 'Innocent Packaging'). This is due to the region's compost facility only accepting those two brands.*

How the WAW Benefits Stallholders

- The service is free for stallholders, as it is funded through the event.
- Stallholders will save money on disposable container purchases.
- The crockery gives value to the presentation of the food.
- The wash trailer has been successfully used at many local events.
- The resounding feedback from the public is positive for food presentation, ease of use and overall feel for the event.

Why it is Important

- People feel good about their participation, while event organisers and stallholders are taking responsible action on environmental issues.
- Compostable items maintain a disposable mindset and are heavy on resources.
- In the drive to eliminate waste and transition towards a circular economy, using reusable items is the best way to truly combat waste issues.

Who is Waste No More?

Waste No More is a waste minimisation service based in the Whakatū - Te tai o Aorere region, committed to working towards zero waste. Waste No More provides both waste minimisation consultation and on-site management for events, facilities and organisations, as well as zero waste education throughout Te Tau Ihu.
